SEATTLE IS TIED UP BY BIG STRIKE

All Branches of Industrial Life at Dead Standstill Today.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 7.—With newspaper publication suspended, theaters and schools closed, street cars not operating, restaurants shut down and shipping being diverted to Oregon ports, Seattle on this the second day of the general strike began to cast about for means of relieving the situation. Nearly 1,000 troops from Camp Lewis are in the city under war department orders ready to act in event of disorders.

At Tacoma, where a similar strike is in progress, a slight improvement is reported today, with some of the trades returning to work.

NEW ARMISTICE TERMS FOR HUNS

ALLIES WILL DEAL MEET THREAT OF EBERT WITH NEW MEASURES.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The Allied premiers' meeting this afternoon as the supreme interallied war council will probably fix new terms to be imposed on Germany whose tactics on obstruction and recrimination are said to have reached a climax in the threat made at Weimar by Chancellor Ebert that Germany would break relations with the Allies.

CONSCRIPTION WILL STAND

FRANCE AND ITALY OBJECT TO ABOLITION OF COMPULSORY SERVICE.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—At the peace conference commission meeting last night, over which President Wilson presided, nearly every article of the society of nations project was discussed and approved with the exception of a paragraph concerning abolition of conscription to which Premier Orlando of Italy and Leon Bourgeois, French delegate, strenuously objected. This paragraph was cancelled and it was agreed to leave the raising of forces to each country after the league fixes the size of future armies.

William Allen White, Emporia, Kansas, and Professor George Davis Neron have been appointed American delegates to the conference with the Russian factions which will endeavor to find a solution to the Russian muddle.

Constitution Half Written.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—Substantially half of the draft of the constitution for the society of nations has been covered by the chief conference commission dealing with the question, according to an official statement today. In approving additional articles the commission reached an agreement on the questions of the greatest importance concerning positive functions of the league the statement says. Acceptance of these additional articles was only provisional, however.

Western Samoa.

German Samoa or Western Samoa, as it is called since September, 1914, when British occupation took place, comprises the islands of Savaii and Upolu with the town of Apia as the seat of the political and commercial life. The islands are the remains of a submerged volcanic range, heavily clothed with tropical verdure which to a great extent prohibits agriculture or farming; hence the principal industries are the planting of coconuts, cacao and rubber.

Editor's Joke.

A budding author sent a humorous paragraph to the editor of a daily paper. Not finding it printed within a reasonable time or hearing from the editorial department, he wrote to inquire about it. "I sent you a joke about ten days ago. I have heard nothing respecting its safe receipt and should be glad to hear whether you have seen it." The editor's reply was as follows: "Your joke arrived safely, but up to the present we have not seen it."

Noted Colored Woman.

Sojourner Truth was a colored woman born in New York state, probably about the middle of the eighteenth century, as she was middle aged at the time of Washington's death, in 1799. That was not her real name, but she assumed it for reasons of her own. She was a slave all her life until set free by an act of the New York legislature in 1827, abolishing slavery in that state, July 4, 1827. Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe wrote a life of her.

CUPID'S DAYDREAM

By MARY J. HAYES.

"What right has this man to upset my home and induce my wife into a public life, when her duty is with her husband and baby?" thundered Mr. Merrill as he threw his paper aside and jumped up from the Morris chair.

"But, Alec," his wife pleaded, "I'm just tired of this dingy little place, and baby is whining all the time. Mr. Cardl has made arrangements for my first appearance on next Tuesday evening. Mother is coming over in the morning to take baby, and I shall manage to get into the city before dinner and rehearse with Mr. Cardl in the afternoon."

"My dear girl, you are looking a blind mistake in heeding this man's advice. You will be so—"

"It is useless," interrupted Marie, "for you to try to alter my plans, for when my mind is set I mean to carry it out."

Alec crossed the room and stood in front of the French window. The moon lit up his face as he glanced out upon his acres of golden wheat and corn.

"So Mr. Cardl has succeeded at last," he was thinking. "Yes, his own little innocent Marie had been persuaded by this miserable wretch." All his happiness was to be ruined, his little cottage, all his newly found joys and comforts of farm life, and baby—what was to become of him? He would grow up without a mother's love and care.

At length he turned toward where his wife had been standing, but she was not there. Shutting off the light, he went upstairs. As he passed her door he stopped. Perhaps at this very moment she was packing. Would he knock? No, he mustn't. He would let her carry out her plans, as she said, and perhaps some day she would realize her fault and come back to him.

The next evening found Marie in a handsome chamber in one of the most fashionable hotels of the city. She was thinking over the events of the day. She had met and rehearsed with Professor Cardl as had been arranged, and he had told her of the remarkable talent she possessed. Never before had she realized it. As she sat gazing at all the luxuries about her she acknowledged to herself how wrong she had been in partaking of such things that were all so unnatural to her; but her heart, swelling with pride, rebelled against these thoughts.

Every morning for nearly a week she spent with a dressmaker. Her afternoons were given for rehearsals, and in the evenings she joined Mr. Cardl in theater parties and dances. The night before her performance she retired early. These new excitements were all too much for her, and she lay awake thinking of baby and Alec, and how she longed to be with them now.

The next morning she arose earlier than usual, having spent a restless night. As she stood before the long mirror, and the dressmaker's skilled fingers worked busily with her costume, she longed for her bungalow apron and heaved a sigh of relief when the garment was finished and carefully tucked in her wardrobe. That afternoon she spent rehearsing, and at 5 o'clock found her very much excited and nervous. Later in the evening Mr. Cardl called to accompany her to the theater.

She came upon the stage, her eyes beaming with success, but with an aching pain tugging at her heart. "If Alec could only see now, how proud he would be of her," she consoled herself.

The orchestra sounded the chord, and Marie, forgetting her troubles, began her selection. Her loud voice rang out clearly and sweetly and won the hearts of her audience. The applause with which her first selection was greeted delighted Marie, and in the height of her success, she reached for a telegram, which a messenger boy slipped into her hand, and in an audible whisper, she read, "baby died this morning, Alec." The audience looked from one to another in amazement, and Marie fell back in a dead faint.

Grandma Merrill, hearing the loud noise on the piazza, dropped the saucer of potatoes that she was paring, and rushed out to the front door, only to find Marie rubbing her eyes with one hand, and shielding the bump on her forehead with the other.

"... and it was only a dream after all," Marie was saying, as Alec appeared on the scene a few minutes later. Just then baby began to cry and Marie was spared the humiliation of explaining the dream, while all attention was turned to Alec, Jr.

Matter of Gender.

The bell of a Scottish church was giving out a very poor tone, and a committee was appointed to inquire as to what was wrong and to report on the best means of putting it right. After an examination the members were divided in their opinion, and the kirk officer, who was in attendance with the keys, was asked his view. "Fine. A ken what's wrang wi' the bell," he remarked. "It's a shee-yn"—meaning that it was of the feminine gender. Pressed to explain, he added: "It's tongue's owre lang—it's needin' to be clipped!" And this turned out to be really the fault. The tongue had become loosened to the extent of an inch or so, and was overlapping the curve at the rim, and therefore not striking truly.

Iron Duke Was Good Musician.

Most of you have heard of the Iron Duke, the duke of Wellington, who was one of the great commanders of England, winning glorious victories for her. But none of you, perhaps, know that this Iron Duke, notwithstanding that he was a famous warrior, was also something of a musician. At one time, observes a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle, he directed a concert in England, after he had become famous as a commander. Not every soldier could do that, and turn so easily from one kind of work to another.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Working together. Memory Verse—1 Cor. 3:9.

INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Team work in religion.

SENIOR AND ADULT TOPIC—Co-operation in the work of the kingdom.

I. Jethro's Visit to Moses (18:1-6).

1. The occasion (v. 1). Upon receipt of the news of the marvelous deliverance of the Israelites from the Egyptians Jethro went out to meet Moses.

2. The object (vv. 2-4). It was to bring to Moses his wife and children. When God called him to go to Egypt to deliver his people Moses did not deem it wise to take with him his wife and children, therefore left them with his father-in-law. Now that God had wrought so wonderfully it was deemed wise for his family to join him.

3. The place (vv. 5, 6). At Mt. Sinai, where the Israelites were encamped.

II. Moses' Reception to Jethro (18:7-12).

Moses honored him not only as his father-in-law, but as the priest of Midian. Jethro, though outside of the covenant people, evidently retained traditions of the true God, as Melchizedek before him did. It seems to have been a case of mutual affection and esteem. Moses rehearsed to Jethro the wonders which God had wrought through him, and Jethro, (1) "Rejoiced for all the goodness which the Lord had done unto Pharaoh and the Egyptians for Israel's sake" (v. 9). (2) Blessed the Lord (v. 10). (3) Confessed the supremacy of the Lord (v. 11). (4) Offered sacrifices to God (v. 12).

III. Jethro's Counsel (18:13-26).

1. The occasion thereof (vv. 13-18). The day after Jethro came to Moses he observed how completely Moses' time was taken in judging Israel. When he saw the greatness of the task he inquired as to why he was doing the work all alone. Jethro was a shrewd man—he saw that a wise administration of affairs would make a division of labor. Moses explained to him that his task was not merely a matter of judging, but of teaching the statutes and laws of God to the people. Jethro recognized Moses' motive, but insisted that the method was not a good one, as it would result in the wasting away of his strength. Many times one wastes his strength in doing that which others could do so that he is unable to do the more important things.

2. Jethro's plan (vv. 19-23). (1) Moses to be unto the people Godward—to bring their causes unto God and teach them the ordinances and laws, to show them the way wherein they must walk, and the work which they must do. (2) Suitable men should be provided as rulers over thousands, hundreds, fifties and tens (v. 21). All great matters should be disposed of by Moses and all subsidiary matters should be adjusted by these judges.

3. Qualifications of these subordinate judges (v. 21). (1) "Able men," that is, men of strength. They must be men of such intellectual power as would enable them to understand the problems presented, and of such will power as to execute the judgments rendered. A strong man is one who knows his own mind and is faithful to it. (2) "Such as fear God." This is the basis of true strength. Only those are fit to judge and rule men who recognize the rule of God over their lives. The true statesman is the man who gives God the rightful place in his life. The one who really trusts and fears God can be trusted to administer the affairs of men. (3) "Men of truth." The one who really trusts and fears God must himself be a lover of the truth. He must be willing to follow after the truth at any cost. His nature must be open to the truth. (4) "Hating covetousness." He must be a hater of unjust gain. The man who is to be a ruler of the people must be free from the suspicion of following his profession because of personal gain. The one set to do such work should be able to show clean hands.

IV. Moses Accedes to Jethro's Counsel (18:24-26).

This common sense advice met a response in Moses' heart. He recognized that God was speaking through Jethro. After all, the knowledge and fear of God was wider than the chosen people. According to Deuteronomy 1:9-18 the people selected the judges and Moses appointed them.

GREATEST MEDICAL SUCCESS OF MODERN TIMES---IROGEN THE NEW STRENGTH BUILDER

Druggists Report Sales Indicating One Million Packages a Month for Entire Country. New Discovery to Revolutionize Popular Medicine.

Many Agencies Have Been Awarded

Never within the memory of the oldest inhabitant has there been such an overwhelming response to newspaper announcements of any scientific discovery as that which was accorded this week to Irogen, the new preparation which has been accomplishing such remarkable results.

Thousands of inquiries from every part of the state, from druggists and from the general public, by mail and phone, have poured into the leading drug stores and wholesale houses of the Alexander Drug Company.

Figures compiled by Mr. Thomas Geary, general manager of the Irogen Chemical Company, show sales of the new product which indicate approximately one million packages a month.

GEARY MAKES STATEMENT.

"Astounding as these figures seem," said Mr. Geary, "the result was no surprise to me. From what I have seen of the remarkable results produced by Irogen and from what I know of the most conclusive evidence which has been given regarding it, it was only natural for me to believe that the people of this section would be greatly interested in this discovery."

"When it is considered that upon the blood supply of the human system depends the health of the heart, brain, lungs, nerves, muscles and tissues, the importance of this new discovery cannot fail to be appreciated by the public."

"Noted physicians have assured me that they have seen Irogen make weak and run-down people healthy, strong and robust almost as if by magic. It has thus restored the fresh bloom of health to cheeks that have grown wan and at the same time called back energetic activity to muscles which have become soft and weak."

"This being so there is nothing so very surprising in the great acclaim accorded to Irogen, which has been recognized as one of the world's greatest medical discoveries."

IROGEN STRENGTHENS.

"I have frequently been asked just what Irogen is good for. I can best answer this by using the words of Professor Irving R. Bacon, a noted authority, who made the much talked about Irogen investigation. In his report he declared that Irogen had produced astonishing results among people who were pale and with shallow complexions, and who suffered from physical weaknesses, nervous weakness, nervous dyspepsia and indigestion, sleeplessness and loss of weight."

"He further stated that gradually the nerves, muscles and vital organs acquired their normal strength and endurance, and the complexion showed the enrichment of the vital fluid from which all parts of the body draw life. Irogen is, therefore, of special use in cases of general physical weakness, due either to disease germs or faulty habits. The strengthening effect is noticeable within eight or ten days and the digestion also is quick to show improvement."

The attention of druggists and country merchants throughout Oklahoma and the West, who have already secured the agency for Irogen, are directed to the announcement that the Alexander Drug Company, of Oklahoma City, is now prepared to fill their orders.

A number of agencies have already been established, but many more will be awarded. Druggists and dealers are requested to telegraph or write Irogen Chemical Co., Candler Bldg., Atlanta, Georgia.

BIG HOSPITAL ENDORSES IT

Perhaps the strongest testimonial ever given any medicine is that of the People's Hospital of New York City, endorsing Irogen in unqualified terms.

Hospitals, as a rule, do not recommend any preparation, but after exhaustive tests and careful experiments, the People's Hospital found Irogen to be so successful in building up broken-down, weakened systems and making strong, sturdy men and beautiful, healthy women from physical and nervous wrecks, that they voluntarily and unhesitatingly endorsed this wonderful discovery in the highest terms. Their letter follows:

Irogen Chemical Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

Gentlemen:

We have used Irogen in the convalescence of all acute medical and surgical cases, in debilitated, nervous cases, in muscular exhaustion and particularly in anaemias due to the stress and strain of industrial activities.

In all the above conditions Irogen has done splendid work in improving the general condition of patients. The microscopic tests, both before and after taking Irogen, show a rich improvement in the number of cells and in the richness and coloring matter of the blood.

There is no doubt that Irogen will meet a needed want with hospitals, physicians and the general public.

RALPH CRAVETTE,

Assistant Superintendent.

It will be noted that the People's Hospital made a very thorough test of Irogen before putting their stamp of approval upon it. They took the most severe surgical and medical cases—that is the most stubborn ones in their institution. They found that Irogen gave just what was needed by these weakened, run-down, suffering people. In every case, they say, the patients showed marked improvement. Their blood became rich, red and healthy, their general condition grew better, and as a result their whole systems began to mend in a satisfactory manner.

Such a statement from such an authority is, indeed, convincing, and those in a position to know are predicting that Irogen will soon become a household word in every home in the country.

BIG DRUG FIRMS WIN AGENCY FOR FAMOUS PRODUCT

Gwin & Mays to Sell Irogen in Ada—Alexander Drug Company Will Be Wholesale Distributors.

As soon as it became known in Ada that Irogen, the new strength builder, was ready for distribution, there was great speculation as to who would be awarded the retail selling agency for this city. The remarkable success of Irogen had aroused great interest in the drug trade, and the agency was considered a valuable prize.

Mr. Geary, after making a personal investigation, announced that in view of the prominence of Gwin & Mays and their extensive facilities for serving all sections of the city, the agency for Ada had been awarded to this progressive firm.

Mr. Geary also announced that the Alexander Drug Company would be the wholesale distributors for this section. Shipment of this product has already been received and will be placed on sale today.

Demand For Irogen Amazes Druggists

Druggists from almost every section of the South report that the demand has already assumed record-breaking proportions and is still growing.

In referring to the remarkable sales of Irogen in their territory, E. A. Gilliland, sales manager of the big Nashville drug firm, the Spurlock-Neal Company, said:

"We have been absolutely amazed at the instant demand for Irogen. Since beginning distribution, about three weeks ago, we have sold the astounding total of 4,000 packages, which is, I believe, an unprecedented record."

Mr. Dan Chambliss, of the Kulman-Chambliss drug stores, unquestionably one of the largest and best known retail druggists in the Southern States, said:

"I have been closely identified with the drug trade in Knoxville for the last twenty years, and in all my experience we have never handled anything in the way of a similar line that ever approaches Irogen as a seller."

DESTINED TO BREAK ALL RECORDS IN NASHVILLE.

"Our experience with Irogen has been most satisfactory," said Benson Rippetoe, general manager of the DeMotte-Page-Sims well known chain of Nashville drug stores.

"The people here seem to have quickly realized the merits of the preparation and are demanding it by the hundreds daily, and at the present rate of sales I predict that Irogen is destined to break all former records for volume of sales."

Reason for Term "Royal."

Naturally there is a good reason for calling golf a royal game, inasmuch as it was the favorite sport of the kings and queens of Scotland and England, as well as the dukes and earls in ancient times. TEXAS PHYSICIAN TREATS 1400 FLU CASES IN MONTH

Dr. J. W. Sandlin Has Found Tanlac to Be Great Remedy for His Patients.

The following letter from Dr. J. W. Sandlin, one of the most prominent physicians of Southern Texas, has been received at the Tanlac office and gives indisputable evidence as to the value of Tanlac as a reconstructive tonic for persons who are recuperating from the after effects of Spanish Influenza. His letter follows:

"Humble, Texas, Nov. 5, 1918.
"Dear Sir:
"Just a few lines in reference to Tanlac. I have found your preparation to be a wonderful reconstructive tonic, and in my opinion it has no equal in its line. I have found it to be the best tonic to be had to build up my patients who have had Spanish Influenza. I have treated within the past month about 1,400 cases, and have never been able to get sufficient Tanlac to supply our people.
Yours very truly,
Dr. J. W. Sandlin."

Dr. Sandlin not only enjoys a very large practice as a physician, but he is also a man of wide influence and ranks as a leading citizen of the enterprising little city of Humble, Texas.

As a practicing physician of sixteen years' experience Dr. Sandlin was quick to recognize the superior tonic properties of Tanlac over other remedies and unhesitatingly and voluntarily gave Tanlac his unqualified endorsement.

Although the Influenza epidemic greatly subsided for a short time, it is today breaking out anew in its very worst form from practically one end of the country to the other and continues to claim its victims by the thousands.

According to late reports, over 350,000 people have already died from the disease.

Persons who have had Influenza are oftentimes left in a very weakened, run-down condition and unless the greatest care is taken, both as to habits and diet, serious complications are apt to follow. If you are in this condition nothing on earth will build you up and strengthen you like Tanlac, as is clearly proven by the experience of Dr. Sandlin and other well known physicians who are using it so successfully in their daily practice.

As a reconstructive tonic and body builder, Tanlac is without an equal and contains the very elements needed by the system to restore you to your normal strength and weight and to fortify your system against attack. In connection with the Tanlac Treatment it is necessary to keep the bowels open by taking Tanlac Laxative Tablets, samples of which are included with every bottle of Tanlac.

Tanlac is sold in Ada by Gwin & Mays Drug Co.

Changed Cars.

A little girl was greatly pleased over the opportunity to accompany her mother on a visit to the city, where they spent a few days, and upon her return to her home she said: "Oh, daddy, we had such a nice time; we went in the sleeper and we came home in the sifter."

Made Early Use of Coal.

Though wood and turf formed the fuel of our early ancestors, investigations have proved that the Britons, even prior to the Roman occupation, made use of coal. But as it was possible to utilize only such coal as lay at or near the surface, the practice did not make headway for many centuries.

1,500,000 MEN KILLED

France Has Lost Equal Number Wounded.

NEW YORK. — France in four years of conflict, to preserve her own liberty and that of the world, according to Andre Tardie, French high commissioner to the United States, has lost 1,500,000 men killed and almost as many wounded. America owes France a debt of gratitude not only for this great sacrifice, but also for the reported saving of thousands of lives in this country due to the discovery by French peasants of a perfect remedy for stomach and intestinal ailments, the ingredients of which are imported from France by Geo. H. Mayr, a leading Chicago Chemist who sells it in America under the name of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catharrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Gwin & Mays Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

Friendship and Freedom.

There can be no friendship where there is no freedom. Friendship loves a free air and will not be penned up in strait and narrow enclosures. It will speak freely and act so, too; and take nothing ill where no ill is meant; nay, where it is, will easily forgive, and forget, too, upon small acknowledgments.—Penn.

AS IT WAS.

How many of us can remember the old fashioned parties where we played slap in and slap out? They were the good old days, they were.

Every time a man's wages goes up the cost of living goes up just one notch further up the ladder.

Riggles says he would have come home earlier from the club last night but he struck a lamp post and was unable to get around till four o'clock. He says what hurts him the most is the fact that his wife would not believe it.

There is one thing that we all like to see and that is the coming and going of each season.

We notice in the paper that a woman held up several men that were in a poker game with her husband. Her husband had lost about $600.

That is what you might call real economy.

You can hear a girl often say nowadays, "If I only had a silk shirt just as pretty as John's." Wonder what she would do with it if she got it? They make awful pretty decorations.

When it comes to holding the job of glass blowers we know of several people that should apply for a job at once.

Gold Once Little Valued.

Rev. Dr. W. E. Griffiths says that it is historically true that in early Japan there were houses roofed with gold. For centuries, he says, gold had little more value in Japan than in South America when Balboa sought the Pacific. Even until 1859 gold was worth only four times as much as silver.

ADA

If the kaiser and other notables of other days read all these purporting revelations about themselves now going the rounds of the press, they will doubtless learn quite a few things they never suspected before.

The public formerly thought of the Cossacks as a horde of barbarous rough riders who were little better than outlaws. The events of the past two years in Russia will do much to change this opinion, for the Cossacks have from the first been sworn enemies of the bolsheviki terrorists and champions of a reign of law and order. They have met many reverses but are still battling against the anarchists and their day may dawn in the near future.

Ebert, head of the present German government, was once a harness maker. In spite of the handicap of the rigid caste system that has prevailed in Germany he rose to a position of influence even in the days of the kaiser and if he is elected president of the republic under the new constitution his example will be one the German boys will strive to emulate, for it will have been demonstrated that in Germany, as in America, every boy has a chance to reach the top.

The gathering of delegates at Weimar to frame a constitution for the new republic will be watched with unusual interest by the world. Just what the convention will produce is a matter of speculation, but owing to the fact that the more conservative elements outnumber radicals, a fairly good constitution may reasonably be expected. Both the old junker party that was the mainstay of autocracy, and the Spartacans are very much in the minority so neither will likely wield much power in shaping the instrument. This is the first time the German people have had an opportunity of expressing themselves and the world is anxious to know what use they will make of it.

A NEWS AD THAT BROUGHT QUICK RESULTS.

Charley Ray says there is no doubt about the drawing power of the News as an advertising medium. A few days ago he placed an ad in the classified column offering a lease on his home just south of the city limits and the sale of his poultry and live stock. He figured on a week for results, but in a day or two a party looking for just such a proposition closed a deal for the whole works, getting his information from the ad. The deal amounted to several hundred dollars and was brought about by a few cents worth of space in the News.

When one picks up a newspaper he seldom stops to think how stupendous is the work of collecting the various items he reads. From every quarter of the globe news stories trickle in, like small rills which eventually form great streams, and at the central bureau of the Associated Press are sent out again to papers everywhere, which in turn pass it on to the readers. The Evening News carries a record of events in even the most remote quarters of the earth and the reader who picks up his paper when it is delivered reads of events that just happened in China, Japan, Paris, Buenos Aires and other foreign countries, as well as closer home. What the readers of the News get represents the day's work of a force of news gatherers numbering thousands, and the work goes on night and day without a moment's cessation. The Associated Press never sleeps.

The Ponca City Daily News, a consolidation of three papers recently purchased by R. M. Elam, formerly of Enid, celebrated the inauguration of full leased wire service a few days ago by coming out with a real metropolitan paper of forty pages. It would have been a credit to a Tulsa or Oklahoma City paper and shows that Elam is right there with the goods when it comes to handling a big proposition. He certainly merits all the support the Ponca City business public can give him.

Records Salt in Sea Water.
An instrument has been devised which gives a continuous record of the salinity of sea water by the measurement of its electrical conductivity. A pair of electrolytic cells have been designed which, when used with a suitable alternating-current galvanometer, will give satisfactory operation in connection with a recorder. The temperature compensation is obtained by placing both cells, which are in the two arms of a Wheatstone bridge, in a uniform temperature bath.

Early Morning Exercise.
"Don't roll out of bed like a sailor," says a newspaper doctor. "Stretch the muscles and the legs and abdomen immediately after awakening. Putting on one's stockings in bed is a good way to accomplish this result and reduce flesh." Obviously, to follow these instructions, one should take the stockings to bed the night before. Most of the exercise, then, naturally will consist in finding the stockings among the bed clothes the next morning.—Kansas City Star.

Making Americans.
If we will plant the children of our immigrants in American soil, give them American companions, teach them in the American language, let them breathe the American literature, discipline them in the American art of self-government, warm their hearts in the sunshine of American tenderness, sympathy and good fellowship, and always respect the nature which God has given them however it may differ from ours, they will grow up loyal, patriotic, devoted Americans.—Lyman Abbott.

Children of Great Men.
Shakespeare had children from whom the world never heard. So it was with Dickens. None of his children came anywhere near his standard. Owen Meredith was a mediocre writer as compared with his father, Sir Edward Bulwer Lytton. Lytton, while a very voluminous writer, was also strong and fine at all times. Alexander Dumas his could not at any time compare with Dumas the elder. Nathaniel Hawthorne was head and shoulders above his son, Julian, in the power to produce books worth while.

Ancient Time Recorders.
Perhaps the first reference to attempts to reckon time by mechanical means is found in Isaiah 38-8, written supposedly about 713 B. C., "The sun dial of Ahaz." Ptolemy says that Anaximander invented a sun dial about 550 B. C. The first sun dial at Rome was placed in the Temple of Quirinus, about 298 B. C., when time was divided into hours. The clepsydra, or water clock, was the next time recorder invented.

Beginning Tower of London.
A royal palace, consisting of what is known as the "white tower," appears to have been the beginning of the Tower of London. It was commenced by William's son, William Rufus, who, in 1088, surrounded it with walls and a broad ditch. Several succeeding kings made additions to it, and King Edward III erected the church. In 1628 the old white tower was rebuilt, and in the reign of Charles II a great number of additions were made to it. The new buildings in the tower were completed in 1850.

To Keep Cider Sweet.
To keep cider sweet place in each barrel immediately on making, mustard, four ounces; salt, one ounce, and ground chalk, one ounce. Shake well. Or, cider may be preserved sweet by canning in airtight cans after the manner of preserving fruit. The liquid should be first settled and racked off from the dregs, but fermentation must not be allowed to commence before canning, or it will not keep.

Narrow Escape.
One morning the youngest pupils were obliged to sit upon a movable bench to recite; soon there was a commotion in the midst of which Edith waved her hand excitedly and said: "Teacher, Johnnie tipped the seat and I almost fell off the class!"

Little-Used Term.
The word Saracen was applied in the middle ages to Turks, Arabs, Moors and other Mohammedans in western Asia and northern Africa. The same kind of people live now, but the word is seldom used except in romance, poetry and history.

Slipper Styles.
In the east, as a general rule, Turks wear yellow slippers, Armenians red and Jews blue.

Flying Fish.
Flying fish are chiefly found along the trade path of the North Atlantic.

At Drummond & Alderson's you see the fit before you order

You are pleased before you pay and suited before you settle.

If one style isn't becoming—try on another—without cost.

Contrast this, with what happens at the Tailor's where you are measured and be-pinned, tried-on and postponed, with no definite assurance of a comely fit or a fetching fashion in the finish.

At the Tailor's it takes $60 and two weeks to turn out a suit that Drummond & Alderson can give you in ten minutes for $35.

And the only difference in the clothes is that ours are made to fit—and the tailor makes to measure.

MAY DEMOLISH OLD PARIS FORTIFICATIONS

PARIS, Jan. 10.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The question of the demolition of the ring of antiquated fortifications which surrounds Paris will be brought up before the Municipal Council during the course of the next few months. This is not as a result of the armistice because of League of Nations which is expected to put an end to wars forever or because of the fact that with modern artillery the fortifications would be useless. The matter has already been brought up before the Council. It dates back from 1884. The plan, however, would have to be referred to parliament by the Municipal Council after its adoption.

Louis Dausset, an alderman of the City of Paris sponsor for the project. He argues that the benefits to be derived are a closer, easier contact with the Paris suburbs, elimination of the necessity of entering or leaving Paris through the various gates and the freeing of valuable land for building purposes.

Writing Without Punctuation.
Chinese do not need punctuation or any other mark. It might be doubtful from the foreign point of view whether a language is possible that has done away with punctuation. The fact is, however, that punctuation is no longer necessary for Chinese. The characters, besides performing a function of their own, take over that also of the period, comma, hyphen, interrogation, exclamation mark, etc.

Bestow Praise Generously.
Let us not be niggardly with a word of praise or encouragement as far as our own dear ones are concerned. The world will offer them neither—in fact, it cares absolutely nothing about them. Therefore, if we hope to bring out what is worth while in our children, or if we would make them truly happy, we must become their staunch allies. Otherwise, we are playing a losing game and can only look for defeat.

Not Adapted for Pet.
The average-sized Alaska walrus is as big as an ox and often weighs more than a ton. A walrus was recently killed by some whalers near Point Barrow whose head weighed 80 pounds, and skin, including flippers, 500 pounds. The animal had a girth of 14 feet, the skin was from half an inch to three inches in thickness, and the blubber weighed 500 pounds.

GRANDDAD'S CLOCK
By JOSEPHINE MURPHY.
(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Downstairs in the saleroom the auctioneer had become quite tired of telling intending bidders that it was "not for sale." He had explained that it belonged to a lady who had acted as companion to the late owner of the house.

She was still occupying one room in the house and had not had time to remove all her things before the sale, and so the clock had remained in its usual place in a corner landing.

The auctioneer was preparing to take down the name of the last purchaser.

"My name is Richard D—," said the man. "Never mind writing it down; here is my card. By the way, do you think it would be any use to send it in to the lady upstairs? I am very curious to see the clock they are all making such a fuss about. I have not troubled to view the things, as I noticed in the catalogue that the cabinet was the only thing worth buying. However, I will run up and have a look at the clock, and, if I take a fancy to it perhaps I may come to terms with the owner."

"Whoever wants to buy that clock will have to marry the owner," replied the auctioneer.

A roar of applause greeted his remark, and, amidst the merriment of a room full of people, he made his escape upstairs.

At first glance he recognized it to be one of rare make. It struck the hour of four and its voice sounded to him like the echo of another clock that had struck in the long ago.

It awoke old memories, asleep for many years. And now for a few minutes Mr. Richard D—, the wealthy merchant and connoisseur, was dead, and plain Dick D—, the farmhand of twenty years before, reigned in his stead.

Once more it was haymaking time, and he and his companions, tired out with their day's work, were sitting at the supper table in the farmhouse kitchen, waited upon by Farmer E—'s pretty daughter Esther.

Once more he could feel his heart beating and keeping time to the tick of the grandfather clock that fitted so well in the corner.

Memories of happier days which he and Esther spent together, the only drawback to his happiness being that the old clock was ticking away the precious minutes. Then had come the misunderstanding and they had parted.

He came to himself with a start. How silly for him to indulge in such sentimental reveries. The past was dead and buried; what need to dig it up again.

Yet how strange it was that he had never thought of the other clock except in connection with her. And all these years he had overlooked the fact that it must have been one of great value. He wondered if it was still ticking in its old place in the corner, and if Esther ever thought of him when she sat in the farmhouse, happily surrounded by her husband and children. Of course she had married Timothy Blake. He remembered it was through him they had quarreled.

At this moment the door at the far end of the landing opened and a woman came out.

She paused in front of him and said: "Excuse me, sir, that clock belongs to me, and is not for sale."

His card case fell to the floor, and as he stooped to pick it up he murmured, "It is she! It is she!"

"The auctioneer told me the clock was not for sale, but I thought you might sell it if I made you a good offer."

"I would not sell for any offer," she replied. "The clock has associations for me and is a memento of the happy days gone by. In fact," she added sadly, "it is the only voice left me now that speaks to me out of the past."

"What does it say?" he questioned eagerly.

She seemed surprised and annoyed by the question, for she made no answer.

"I am sorry if I have hurt your feelings by my offer, Mrs.—" He hesitated over the last word.

"Miss E—," she replied, correcting him and filling in the pause.

"What!" he shouted in amazement. "Do you mean to say you never married Timothy after all?"

She turned and peered up into his face.

"You, Dick! You!"

He caught hold of her hands, and, looking at her with a glad light shining in his eyes, he said: "Is it possible, Esther, that you have not forgotten me?"

"How could I forget," she replied, "when the old clock has been ticking your name to me for the last twenty years?"

Ten minutes later a man rushed into the anteroom and said to the young man who was still gazing at the bookcase:

"That old Johnnie who went upstairs is taking your advice already, for I've just seen him kiss the owner of the clock."

Touch Wood.
"Touching wood" is a survival of the ancient custom of wappentake (weapon touch). Danish warriors cherished the custom of touching each other's spears in token that they would join arms in a common cause; and this touching of the wooden spear shafts became symbolic of mutual protection.

Music's Value in Home.
Music is so general in its appeal to our better emotions that we cannot afford to neglect its cultivation in the home. Few mothers realize the importance of training and association in this direction. One ventures to say that many men and women have been impelled to right living and noble fulfillment of high ideals by the intangible strain of music that runs like a bright thread of sentiment through the stress of busy days. Mechanical players and other ingenious music devices threaten less personal participation in a onetime pleasure.

Fault-Finding.
Why should we denounce fault-finding because it is not constructive? All of us are continuously finding fault; more or less, and on our success in finding the fault and destroying it depends mostly our successful development. So in the end it appears that fault-finding is essentially one of our most constructive activities. One of our worst faults is the hypocritical practice of finding fault with fault-finding.—F. H. Young in Providence Journal.

Burma's Sassamum Crop.
Over 500 different types of husked rice or paddy were under examination last year at one of the government agricultural farms in Burma, and over 200 types of sassamum were grown at another. Hitherto much of the sassamum grown in Burma has been exported to Europe, where it is used for the production of the so-called "olive oil," for which France and Italy have long been famed.

First New England White Child.
November 20 is the anniversary of the birth of Peregrine White, the first English child born in New England. He was born aboard the Mayflower in Plymouth harbor. After his father's death his mother married Gov. Edward Winslow, the first marriage in New England.

Temperature at the North Pole.
It is not a matter of record that Peary took the temperature during his short stay at the Pole, hence there is no North pole temperature record that we know about. The probable maximum temperature, however, cannot be much above the freezing point, notwithstanding its 24-hour day, for the Pole is isolated and in an ocean in which it is necessary to melt all the ice and snow before the immediate surface temperature rises much above 32 degrees Fahrenheit.

Work and Workers.
There is not so much difference in the world's work as in the world's workers. It is not so much difference what we are doing—so long as it is useful—that counts as the way in which we are doing it. The work of which we are ashamed we either have no right to do, or we are not doing it as we should.

Just Missed Perfection.
When Mrs. Langtry was at the summit of her beauty and fame she met at a dinner an African king who was visiting London. She did her best to please the dusky monarch and evidently succeeded, for he said to her as they parted: "Ah, madam, if heaven had only made you black and fat you would be irresistible."

A Good Fight.
A good fight is never for its day alone. It is for many days. And it is not alone for him who bears its utmost stress. No man can live his own life bravely and not be an energy of social good, virtue proceeding forth from him to heal some brother's wounded heart. There is a riddle here for us to guess.—John White Chadwick.

KHAKI CINDERELLA

By RUTH W. BAKER.

(Copyright, 1918, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

He was, without doubt, a very lonesome and very homesick young soldier; but why, he asked himself, had he stepped forward so eagerly when the captain had read the carefully worded invitation to dinner "for the loneliest and most homesick soldier boy in your camp?" Already he felt depressed and irritable at the thought of dining with strangers. The party would probably consist of giggling girls, he told himself bitterly. However, here he was, and evidently nearing his destination.

"Will you let me off at Van Dyke street, please?" he said to the conductor.

"Get off at Arbuckle. Van Dyke's at the top of the hill," replied the conductor.

"Top of the hill," thought the boy.
"Good heavens, and it is beginning to snow, too! Back to camp for me before it is too late!"

"Arbuckle! Arbuckle!" roared the conductor, and Stanley G., like a beaten animal, slunk from the warm car into the driving snow.

"Ah, my boy," called a cordial voice.
"I was afraid you weren't coming."
and to Stanley's amazement, a luxurious limousine rolled to his side, the door snapped open, and he found his hand being vigorously shaken by a very portly and very likable gentleman. "Drive like mad, James," called the gentleman, "or that roast won't be fit to eat."

"Glory be," wondered Stanley, "am I Cinderella?"

He became firmly convinced that his fairly godmother had at last remembered his existence, for all through the wonderful evening that followed gifts from Paradise seemed to be showering upon him. The dinner was not to be passed by lightly, but he was never quite sure what he'd eaten, for directly opposite him a vision in pink dimpled and smiled, and he caught fleeing glimpses of wonderful dark eyes, eyes which he had never believed existed outside of books.

After dinner the vision, Miss Marjorie by name, played wonderful dreamy music. Stanley was quite sure that he saw the portly gentleman kiss his slim little wife when Marjorie played an old love song. He had a very pleasant feeling of belonging in this happy, intimate little family circle, and wonderful visions unfolded themselves before him. The voice of his host recalled him from the building of his air castles.

"Our boy is in France, you know," the older man was saying, "and we would like to think that over there another family is taking a lonely lad into their home tonight."

"I hope so, sir," replied Stanley, earnestly, "and I assure you that my own mother and father will thank you from the bottom of their hearts for your kind hospitality to me. I had a pretty fine case of the blues this afternoon," he laughed. It was easy to laugh when the most beautiful girl in the world was smiling at one in such a friendly fashion.

All too soon the clock struck 10 and Stanley rose to depart. "At least Cinderella had until midnight," thought the boy, enviously. But it was time for him to say good night to the kind people who had taken him, a stranger, into their home and treated him like a son and brother. Brother? Well, not if he knew it!

He could hardly be blamed if, when he said good night to Marjorie, he held her hand a bit more closely and a bit longer than convention demanded.

"I do hope that you will come again," said the girl, shyly, and Stanley, drawing a long breath, exclaimed:
"You just bet I will, and beginning tonight my fairy godmother has a place in my prayers."

Marjorie looked slightly puzzled, but the arrival of the motor prevented further conversation. As she turned away from the door, a dark object lying on the floor caught her attention.
It was a glove, a man's glove, and she picked it up. "I will send it to him tomorrow," she thought, calmly; then tossed it upon the table and ran upstairs, furious to find that her cheeks were burning and her heart thumping strangely.

The morning's mail brought the following letter:
"My Dear Fairy Princess—Cinderella (is that the masculine form of Cinderella?) has lost his glove. His fairy godmother informs him that it may be found at the palace of a certain princess. Reversing the old tradition may Cinderella come in search of his lost hand—not foot—covering?"

It is almost needless to add that the answer of the Princess Marjorie was "yes," to the letter, and also to the question that not long after was asked in the fragrant dimness of the conservatory.

"And shall we ride off on our honeymoon in a pumpkin, my princess?"
asked Stanley with a smile.

"In a shoe box, if you like," said Marjorie. "In anything, dearest, so long as we go together."

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MORE ABOUT TURKEYS.

"Well," said young Master Turkey.
"I've been thinking it over."

"What have you been thinking over?" asked young George Turkey.

"Yes," said
young John Turkey, "please be good enough to tell us what you have been thinking over."

"You remember the other day we were so pleased because we were being given so much to eat? We said it was quite delightful and we all talked about it."

"Yes, I remember our talk," said
young John Turkey.

"So do I," said young George Turkey.

"I've been thinking it over since then," said young Master Turkey.

"When we first heard the news," he continued, "that we were being fed for a special day and only being fed so that folks could eat us, we were quite sad. You remember that Grandfather Turkey told us the reason for our fine meals?"

"We most certainly do remember it," said the other two turkey brothers.

"We did feel just a little better after a few moments of Grandfather Turkey's talk," said young Master Turkey,
"because he said that it was fine to live a glorious life full of food even if it were not to be for long. That cheered us up a bit."

"Yes," said young George Turkey,
"that made me feel quite happy again."
"It made me feel the same way,"
said young John Turkey.

"But I've been feeling happier since then," said young Master Turkey.

"Has it made you happier to think it all over?" asked young George Turkey.

"It has," said young Master Turkey.
"I've been finding out more about it.
There are a number of old turkeys around the barnyard and they've been telling me all that happens."

"They have said that some of us were to be eaten on Thanksgiving day, which Grandfather Turkey told us. I found out more about that day, too.
It's a day when folks are thankful;
they're thankful for everything they've got—health, sunshine, happy homes, folks who love them and whom they love—and oh, they've got very many things to be thankful for."

"But mostly they're thankful because a good many years ago this country in which is this barnyard was a very young country and it was through brave men who didn't mind putting up with many trials who stayed and built up the country."

"They made barns and pig pens and houses you mean," said young John Turkey.

"Yes, and cities and villages, towns and hamlets," said young Master Turkey.

"Continue with your story," said
young George Turkey.

"So people celebrate this day every year to show they are thankful that they are living in this country which is a wonderful land of freedom and sunshine and liberty!"

"I don't believe they usually mention sunshine along with freedom and liberty," said young George Turkey,
"but no matter. It sounds all right, and sunshine is nice, too."

"And then some of us are saved and used on a day which comes not long afterward, when an old fellow named Santa Claus climbs down chimneys and fire escapes and takes presents to children and fills their stockings with oranges and apples and all sorts of goodies. On this day, which is known as Christmas day, they have turkey, too. It's a most important day—the most important day, I believe, in the year."

"So we're especially saved for two important days," said young
George Turkey.
"That's fine. It's a great honor shown to turkeys."

"It is indeed,"
said young John Turkey, "and not only do they do us this honor, but in making us nice for themselves they make it nice for us while we are around."

And what he said was true, for they had a beautiful meal right then and there, while young Master Turkey told the other Turkey brothers more about Thanksgiving day and Christmas—the two great days to come!

So they felt very proud and gobbled delightedly all afternoon as they talked about it.

Made His Aunt Happy.

"It is the duty of everyone of you to make at least one person happy during the week," said the Sunday school teacher. "Have you?"
"I did," said Johnny promptly.
"That's nice. What did you do?"
"I went to see my aunt, and she's always happy when I go home again."

SEVENTH ANNUAL EAST CENTRAL Interscholastic Meet East Central State Normal School APRIL 18 AND 19, 1919. Ada, Oklahoma

The seventh annual interscholastic meet of the East Central State Normal will be held on the campus of the Normal on April 18 and 19, 1919. With a record of six excellent meets in the past, this meeting is recognized as an established institution in the athletics of Oklahoma. In the first meet in 1913 only seventy-eight contestants took part and the contests were limited to track and field, declamation and piano. In 1917, more than three hundred students entered contests in track and field, baseball, basketball, declamation, piano and chorus. In 1918, bad weather and the war conditions held down the attendance.

More important, however, to all persons interested in the meet is the assurance that the enforcement of all eligibility rules in spirit and in letter will be continued as in the past. To elevate and keep clean the athletics of this part of Oklahoma is the prime object of this meet and East Central invites the co-operation of all superintendents, principals, and teachers of this district in its efforts to achieve this ideal.

GENERAL ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS.

No person who has passed his twenty-first birthday shall be eligible to compete in any contest that may be offered at this meet.

All students of the East Central State Normal and all persons who have completed the twelve grades of the public schools or their equivalent shall be ineligible to compete in this meet.

No person shall be eligible to compete who has represented a school of higher grade than a high school in an athletic or literary contest except as follows: Students who were members of the S. A. T. C. and became bona fide high school students upon the disbanding of the S. A. T. C. shall not be disqualified by this rule.

Any person who has engaged in athletics for financial gain shall be ineligible to enter any athletic contest that may be offered at this meet.

All contestants must have enrolled in the school they represent on or before February 15, 1919, must have attended regularly since, and must be passing in 75 per cent of their work aside from spelling and penmanship.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET.

This meet shall be divided into two sections known as the high school section and the grammar school section. All contestants who have passed their fifteenth birthday or who weigh one hundred fifteen pounds or more shall compete in the high school section. Those who weigh less than one hundred fifteen pounds and have not passed their fifteenth birthday shall compete in the grammar school section.

The following events are offered in the high school section: 100 yard dash; 220 yard dash; 440 yard dash; 880 yard run; mile run; 220 yard low hurdle; 120 yard high hurdle; 12 pound shot put; discus; javelin; high jump; running broad jump; pole vault; running high jump; half mile relay.

The following events are offered in the grammar school section: 50 yard dash; 100 yard dash; 220 yard dash; 440 yard dash; 120 yard low hurdle; 8 lb. shot put; discus; running broad jump; pole vault; running high jump; half mile relay.

In the grammar school section each county may enter six contestants in each event, all of whom may start. Each high school may enter three men in each event all of whom may start. In the high school meet the contestants represent their high school and in the grammar school meet the contestants represent their county. In the high school meet entries must be certified by the principal or the superintendent of that school. Grammar school contestants must be certified by the county superintendent of the county which they represent, or the principal of their school.

BASEBALL.

A baseball tournament will be held during the meet. It shall be open to high schools. Grammar school pupils may play on the high school teams. The general eligibility rules apply.

TENNIS.

A tennis tournament consisting of singles and doubles for boys will be held. Each high school may enter one boy in the singles and one team of boys in the doubles. The general eligibility rules apply.

BASKETBALL.

A girls' basketball tournament will be held during the meet. The general eligibility rules apply.

READING.

In the reading contests all students who are more than sixteen years of age shall compete in the high school section. Those under that age, unless bona fide high school students, shall compete in the grammar school section. In each section there shall be two classes, one for boys and one for girls. Each high school shall be permitted to enter one boy and one girl in the high school section and each county shall be permitted to enter one boy and one girl in the grammar school section. The grammar school contestants in reading shall be the winner of the reading contests in their respective counties and must be certified as such by the county superintendent of the county represented. The time used in giving the reading must not be more than fifteen minutes. In making their decision, the judges shall consider interpretation ninety per cent and the selection ten per cent.

MUSIC.

1. (1) Mixed chorus, fourteen to twenty voices. Four part music must be used in this contest. Points graded as follows: (a) Selection, (b) Interpretation, (c) Tone Quality, (d) General appearance of chorus. (2) Mixed chorus, fourteen to twenty voices. Three part music (alto, soprano and bass) must be used in this contest. Points graded are the same as (1).

2. Girls' glee club, twelve to eighteen voices. Three part music must be used in this contest. Points graded are the same as those in (1).

3. Boys' glee club, twelve to eighteen voices. Four part music must be used in this contest. Points graded are the same as in (1).

5. The piano contest is open to both boys and girls. Points graded are selection, technical ability and interpretation.

The general eligibility rules of the interscholastic meet, relating to enrollment, age and grade of work done in the regular school work apply to the contestants in these contests, provided that no pupil below the eighth grade may take part in any of the music contests. No school may enter more than two of the first four contests. Three copies of the music for the choruses and glee clubs, and one copy for the piano contest must be sent to Miss Emma K. Keller, East Central State Normal, Ada, Oklahoma at least one week before the date of contests. Contestants shall draw for places on the program. Music in all contests must be memorized. All contestants in piano must be present at the beginning of the preliminaries.

The judging of the choruses will be by an expert supervisor from the outside of the district.

TROPHIES.

Gold, sterling and bronze medals will be given to winners of first, second and third places respectively in the high school section. Sterling and bronze will be given the winners of first and second places in the grammar school meet. A gold medal will be given to each member of the winning mile relay team and a sterling medal to each member of the winning half mile relay team. Gold medals will be given to the winners of the tennis singles and to each member of the teams of doubles. Gold medals will be given the winners in the high school section of reading and piano. Sterling medals will be given the winners in the grammar school reading contest. All medals that are awarded to boys will be in the form of a watch fob and those awarded to girls are in the form of a brooch. Both forms of prizes are of a very practical nature.

The track loving cup that belongs to the high school section has been won twice by Purcell high school, twice by Shawnee, once by Holdenville, once by Sacred Heart Academy, and is now held by Shawnee, 1918 winner. The grammar school cup has been won once by Johnston county and once by Seminole county, the latter now holding the cup. The girls' basketball cup has been won once by McLoud, once by Ada, once by Francis, and is now held by Stonewall, 1918 winner. The baseball cup is now held by Calvin, 1918 winner. The four part mixed chorus cup has been won once by the Francis high school, once by Henryetta, and once by Ada. To come into permanent possession of these cups they must be won as follows: Track, three times, mixed chorus, three times; baseball, two times; basketball, two times; boys' or girls' glee clubs, one time; three part mixed chorus, one time. All cups held temporarily must be returned on or before Friday, April 18.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

Ada, the home of the East Central State Normal, is accessible from all parts of the district. From the north, south and east the Katy and Frisco railroads maintain good service while from the west there are two trains daily on the Santa Fe.

To secure considerations in the matter of lodgings for Friday night all entries must be in not later than April 14. Entries for the meet positively close for both classes on April 16. On account of the immense number of entries in these meets the above requirements are necessary. Upon receipt of the entries properly certified by superintendent or principal, assignment of rooms will be made and the contestant upon his arrival in Ada should call immediately upon the assignment committee for his card. This card identifies him and directs him to his lodging. No person should be entered who will not actually be present and take part in the meet. Official entry blanks have been prepared upon which entries must be made.

Lodging will not be free as heretofore. Visitors will be expected to pay seventy-five cents to defray a part of the cost of their lodging and breakfast on Friday morning.

Ada has cheap jitney service and numerous eating houses and lunch counters. Lunch will be served at noon on both days at a very reasonable price, in the Normal cafeteria. They will cater especially to the demands of the track athletes but will be prepared to take care of all. A check room for the convenience of visitors, will also be maintained.

HINTS FOR GRADING IN CHORUS AND PIANO CONTESTS.

All grades are based on the scale of one hundred per cent. Chorus—Graded as follows: (1) Selection, 30 per cent; (2) Tone Quality, 30 per cent; (3) Interpretation, 30 per cent; (4) Appearance, 10 per cent.

Selection—A good high school chorus does not necessarily have to be composed by one of the masters to receive the highest grade under selection. Such a selection if entirely too difficult or if sung with utter lack of understanding on the part of the chorus will receive a lower grade than a simpler song sung intelligently and of a less celebrated composer. Such a song should of course possess real musical worth.

Interpretation—Interpretation hardly needs an explanation. A song well sung must always show a sympathetic understanding of words and mood on the part of the singer and a very earnest desire to help the audience to understand its content.

Tone Quality—Tone quality cannot be over-stressed in high school chorus work. Every teacher knows how quickly forced tense tones ruin the voices of young boys and girls.

Appearance—Only uniformity and simplicity of dress are considered. Piano graded as follows: Selection, 33 1-3 per cent; Technique, 33 1-3 per cent; Interpretation, 33 1-3 per cent.

Selection. 1. Something of musical worth. 2. Entirely within the performer's technical ability.

Interpretation. 1. Good singing tone. 2. Clean cut phrasing. 3. Good rhythm. 4. Ability to grasp meaning of selection and convey it to hearers. 5. Play expressively but not sentimentally.

Technique. 1. Correct reading. 2. Correct fingering. 3. Correct time. 4. Correct pedaling.

HINTS FOR ATHLETES IN TRAINING.

1. Always "warm up" before exertion.
2. Work at the time of day you expect to compete.
3. Do not keep step with anyone; no two runners have the same stride.

4. Don't look back in any race.
5. When tempted to quit remember the other fellow is as tired as you are.

6. Use your head. If a man starts too fast don't follow him. Run your own race. Don't let anyone get too far ahead of you near the last quarter of a half-mile, mile or two-mile—it's hard to catch up.

7. Get a rub-down after each event. It helps to relieve fatigue.

8. Don't cut in ahead of a man until you are fully two paces in the lead.

9. Speed is essential in weight events.

10. Sprinters and hurdlers should practice fast work. Leave the long runs for distance men.

11. The best way to learn to run is by running.

12. Breathe through the mouth and nose, particularly in severe tests as in distance events, where you need all the air you can get.

13. Dress warmly when the weather is cold. It is foolish to stand around or run distances in scant track attire, as strains and chills often result.

IMPORTANT.

Every athlete should be equipped with a blanket, heavy wrap, or bath robe.

On account of so many events, many of them will be run simultaneously. Enter only those you will be able to get into.

Read carefully the general program. If you are in an event that requires preliminaries, be present when they start.

The management will not be responsible for lost or stolen articles. Make use of the check room.

The official entry blank was mailed with this bulletin. If you do not have one, write for it.

If there are things in this bulletin that are not clear, investigation should be made at once. Do not wait until the day of the meet to clear up the problems. Address all communications to E. C. Wilson, Ada, Oklahoma.

NERVOUS RUN-DOWN WOMAN

Tells How Vinol Creates Strength.

Duked, Tenn.,—"I live on a farm and keep house for six in my family. I got into a nervous run-down condition so it seemed as though I would die. A friend advised me to try Vinol. I have been greatly improved by its use and am better and stronger, in every way."—Mrs. H. H. Goodwin.

The reason Vinol was so successful in Mrs. Goodwin's case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weak run-down system and create strength.—Gwin & Mays Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

WHAT THEODORE ROOSEVELT THOUGHT OF THE TEACHER'S TASK.

You teachers—and it is a mere truism to say this—you teachers make the whole world your debtor; and of you it can be said, as it can be said of no other profession save the profession of the ministers of the gospel themselves, if you teachers did not do your work well, this Republic would not outlast the span of a generation.

Moreover, as an incident to your avowed work, you render some well-nigh unbelievable services to the country. For instance, you render to this Republic the prime, the vital service of amalgamating into one homogeneous body the children of those who are born here and of those who come here from so many different lands abroad. You furnish a common training and common ideals for the children of all the mixed peoples who are here being fused into one nationality. It is in no small degree due to you, and to your efforts, that we of this great American Republic form one people instead of a group of jarring peoples. The children, wherever they have been born, wherever their parents have been born, who are educated in our schools side by side with one another, will inevitably grow up having that sense of mutual sympathy and mutual respect and understanding which is absolutely indispensable for working out the problems that we as citizens have before us.—Address at National Education Association, Ocean Grove, N. J., July 7, 1905.

GEORGE DRAYTON STRAYER

George Drayton Strayer, the chief speaker at the East Central Education Association on Friday, March 7, is one of the greatest if not indeed the greatest figure in the educational world of today. He has reached this position through his work in every department of our educational organization which he entered as a teacher in an elementary school in 1893. Since that time he has held the position of ward and high school principal, instructor in secondary schools, and now holds the chair of educational administration at Columbia University and is undoubtedly the greatest authority in this field in the world. He has been in this position since 1910. In 1918 he was made president of the National Education Association, the most powerful association of educators in the world. To head this organization is probably the greatest honor that a teacher can receive from his fellows. He is also chairman of the commission on the vocational emergency and the program for readjustment during and after the war.

East Central students and teachers of East Central district have become acquainted with Mr. Strayer through his many books on teaching, the best known of these being perhaps, "A Brief Course in the Teaching Process." More student teachers working in the training school have secured their ideas of lesson plans from this book than from any other. With Mr. Thorndike, he has written, "Educational Administration" and with Miss Norsworthy, "How to Teach."

Mr. Strayer will be here all day on Friday, March 7, and will give three addresses, as follows: "The Emergency in Education," "Education for Citizenship," and "Teaching Children to Study."

Canadian money orders are issued in banks of various denominations, with the amount of money for which the order is issued printed on it. PAINS AND ACHES YIELD QUICKLY TO SLOAN'S LINIMENT

Are you tormented by Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica or any of those aches that require a counter-irritant? Then let the soothing, warming application of Sloan's Liniment stop the pain by drawing the blood away from the congested part.

It is the pressure on the nerves by the blood rushing to the inflamed muscle or joint that makes you ache. So when Sloan's Liniment relieves the swollen blood vessels by setting up a counter-irritant on the surface, the circulation is equalized, sympathetic nerves all soothed, and soreness or lameness disappears.

Sloan's Liniment is probably the counter-irritant most widely used to overcome painful inflammation in cases of neuralgia, sore muscles, wrenched joints, strains, bruises, gout. Rubbing is not required. This clear, clean liquid is easily applied as it does not stain the skin.

One is reminded by the word whose death is celebrated by Democritus (and which, by the way, in a civilized language is called "lese majeste") of another sesquipedalian term which has gone out of style. GERMAN ASSEMBLY MEETS IN HISTORIC CITY

Weimar, capital of the grand-duchy of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, 50 miles southwest of Leipzig and 441 miles southwest of Berlin, known as "the poets' city" and "the German Athens," was chosen for the gathering of the first German National Assembly, it is said, because it is a non-Prussian town. It is situated in a fertile valley on the river Ilm, a small tributary of the Saale and has a population of less than 50,000.

Here, amid the old buildings that remind one of a medieval past, the 410 representatives of the German people elected on January 20, assemble to accept, reject or amend the draft of a Constitution which has been prepared by the Ebert government and to form, perhaps, a union of States on the modern American principle.

Sleepy old Weimar, famous as the home of Goethe, Schiller and Liszt, is said to have existed more than eleven centuries. Under Charles Augustus, Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, the town became a center of Liberalism as well as art. Its most important building is the Palace, described as "a huge structure forming three sides of a quadrangle, erected (1789-1803) under the superintendence of Goethe" only a remnant of which, however, with a tower, is still standing.

It contains a series of rooms dedicated to the poets Goethe, Schiller, Herder and Wieland, all of which are decorated lavishly with mural paintings. Nearby is the house where Goethe lived from 1782 to 1832, a home of luxury for that day, built as a gift to the poet by Charles Augustus and presented to him by his patron upon Goethe's return from his Italian tour.

Houses with high-pitched gables and roofs give the town a picturesque appearance, while the narrow winding streets of the older portion of the place, and the vestiges of the medieval walls, continually remind the visitor of its historic character. The Stadtkirche, or parish house of worship, a Gothic structure dating from about 1400, is a building of rare interest. It has been slightly modernized but enough of the original edifice remains to show its age and classic outlines.

Among the notables whose tombs are beneath its roof are those of the princess of Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach, including the elector John Frederick the Magnanimous and his wife, and Duke Bernhard of Weimar, a hero of the Thirty Years' War. "The altar piece is a triptych," one writer says, "the centre piece representing the crucifixion; beside the cross stands Martin Luther, an open Bible in his hand, while blood from the pierced side of the Saviour pours upon his head."

Another ancient church is the Jakobs or Hofkirche, or court church, whose disused cemetery contains the graves of Lucas Cranach, the artist, and Johann Musaeus, author of German folk lore. Another burial ground contains the grand ducal family vault, in which Goethe and Schiller also lie, side by side. Bronze statues of both poets, the work of Rietschel, and grouped on one pedestal, stand in front of the site of a theatre built in 1825 under the direction of Giethe, a time memorable as the "golden age of German drama." Here many of Wagner's compositions were first given to the world. In 1907 the old structure was replaced by a new building.

The genius of Goethe and Schiller characterize Weimar in other forms of civic beauty. Goethe, some years before his death, laid out a large public park in the form of a garden and without an enclosure of any kind. There a quaint relic of its originator remains in the stone altar round which a serpent climbs to eat the votive bread. Upon the altar is an inscription: "the genius hujus loci."

Statues of Wieland, who came to Weimar as the tutor of Grand Duke Charles Augustus in 1772, the composed Hummel and Franz Liszt are among the other public embellishments of the city. The Grunes Schloss built in the 18th century, and containing 200,000 volumes, is an interesting library and contains also a valuable collection of portrait, busts and literary and other curiosities.

Other public buildings are the Wittumspalais, the old ducal dower house, containing Preller's famous mural paintings of the Odyssey; the Goethe-Schiller Archive, an imposing

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

AUSTRIAN ROYAL FAMILY PARASITES ON NATION

VIENNA, Jan. 10.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The latest of the "disclosures," so popular nowadays, show that Austrian archduchesses, including the former Empress Zita before she was married drew from the government large retainers for monthly support and quarterly rent money. The Austrian State Bureau for Army Affairs makes the revelations in an official statement.

It shows that Empress Zita while still an archduchess drew as monthly support and for rent the equivalent of $3,100 at the peacetime rate of exchange. Her address was put down as either the Hofburg, or Schoenbrunn, both imperial palaces which were placed free, at the disposal of the archduchess. She had, however, in the palaces at Reichenau, Laxen, in case of ennui, the choice of living burg, Gotzendorf, or the Belvedere in Vienna.

Archduchess Auguste, wife of Arch duke Joseph, received the equivalent of $14,799; Archduchess Isabella,

Other disclosures reveal that clothes, linen, food and other things were drawn from military depots in huge amounts by the archducal families. The case of the Archduchess Isabella is particularly interesting since she had three estates, the Albrecht Palace in Vienna, another castle in Baden, and a great seat in Teschen, and her husband is considered one of the most wealthy men in Europe.

"It is the greatest day of all my life to meet someone I know and the best of all is that it is my brother." Antiquity of Disease.

The antiquity of disease is shown by the recent discovery of Prof. Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian institution, Washington. He found fossilized toxic, or poisonous bacteria, at the base of and far below the Cambrian rocks. These rocks had originally lain 36 miles below the earth's surface, but had been upheaved by some tremendous convulsion. This is an age of 30,000,000 years ago.

When Napoleon III created himself emperor of the French he took the style and title of Napoleon III, in order to establish the connection between himself and his uncle, the first Napoleon.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 7.—The House Roads and Highways Committee, at a meeting today, decided, on the plan for assessing property abutting and adjacent to roads proposed and in the $50,000,000 bond issue. It was decided to assess property for the first half-mile back at 10 c an acre, for the next half mile 5c, for the next half mile 4c and the next half-mile 2c. This is to be regardless of valuation. Railroad companies should pay $15 a mile, telephone companies $2 a mile. This assessment is for maintenance purposes only, as both Senate and House committees agreed that no assessment will be made for construction.

The House today killed the bill by Stevenson which would prohibit the use of the German language in any form and any place in Oklahoma and which would apply to all persons after a residence of two years in the State. Members opposing it thought it a little too strong. There is another measure which both houses have acted favorably upon precluding the teaching of German up to and including the eighth grade.

The House today acted on bills under general order and the Senate advanced a number in that body. It was indicated in the House that morning sessions would be asked soon, and this probably will be done as soon as subcommittees in both houses have completed work on the different phases of the roads bill.

Committee reports in the House having to do with two important measures were on House Bill No. 299, by Stevenson and McNabb, which is another measure to vitalize Section 12-A, and a bill by Bobo and Webb which would re-establish the School of Mines at Wilburton. Both reports recommended the bills for passage. It is possible when the Sec. 12-A measure comes up for consideration the old fight will be renewed. The School of Mines was abolished by a former Governor vetoing the appropriation.

The bill by Ruth of the House relating to fees and salaries of Sheriffs and their deputies and jailers, after being amended as to the size of fees, was finally sent back by that body to the Committee on Fees and Salaries to redraft, including amendments made. The measure was subjected to considerable discussion. It was the opinion of some that Sheriffs were not entitled to some of the fees proposed in the bill, which, all together, would materially increase their compensation.

Other bills by Ruth in the House favorably acted upon were: Providing for safety devices in the construction and alteration of buildings; relating to appeals from Justice of the Peace courts, and to prevent and punish family desertion or non-support of wife and children. The bill by Morris to protect the public from unqualified persons undertaking to practice law was recommitted, following opposition from members who believed it was giving lawyers a little too much advantage.

The Senate advanced these bills: By Mr. Woods, requiring County Clerks to certify copy of chattel mortgages without fee; by M. McIntosh, requiring the County Attorney to appear in behalf of the county or State in all courts; by Messrs. Butterfield and Street, appointment of deputy court clerk in Oklahoma county; by Mr. Walden of the House and Mr. Cartwright of the Senate, the pure feed bill; by Mr. Butterfield of the House and others, for Deputy County Clerks in Oklahoma County; by Mr. Butterfield and others, for County Court reporter in Oklahoma County.

The Senate killed the bill by Mr. Vaughan and others making it a crime to commit any offense against or defraud the State. The bill by Mr. Cordell authorizing the Corporation Commission to employ additional help in the enforcement of the cotton gin law was sent back to special committee to revise. The body was working on the bill by Mr. Hill and others relative to salaries of the warden of the penitentiary and guards when adjournment time came.
